

CDP Global Water Report 2014 was Released

CDP's Global Water Report 2014 explores the increasing recognition that mismanagement of water can result in significant business failure while effective and innovative action can result in sustainable growth.

The report underlies that two thirds of the world's largest companies are reporting exposure to water risks, some of which have potential to limit growth.